Pin-Up, Girls

The comma in the title should prevent you from confusing them with the kind boys stick up on their locker doors. We're actually referring to the girls who are "pinned" — and, in case you still wear buttoned shoes, to be "pinned" means that you're going steady with the Joe whose pin you wear. Here are other ways of showing that you're writing "ditto" in your date book these days.

Bright Collar Stuff—If both of you wear small paper clips on either side of your collars, everyone will know that you go together.

Letter Exchange—If you wear his initial and he wears yours in those little letter pins from the dime store, then your friends can be sure you're not In Love In Vain.

Dyed to Match—They tell us that Steadies actually are bleaching matched streaks in their hair and that they're painting their eye glasses (if they wear 'em) with the same nail polish.

• • •

FAD FOOLISHNESS

Let other columnists report the news, the weather or the fashions, we'll keep feeding you the fads. That's probably why the other columnists make sense and we don't. Aren't you glad?

Hand Lettered — Something new has been added to your fingers. It's Nail-O-Grams, little metal initials that clamp on to your finger nail. You can wear your initials on your thumbs, or spell out your name on all 10. Don't ask us what happens if your name has 11 letters. Not even "The Beast With Five Fingers" could give you the answer to that.

Double Discs—Lots of girls have bought both the heart tag bracelet with "I Love You" written on it in different languages and the one with boys' names written all over it. They fasten the bracelets together and wear them as a necklace, with one heart hanging "fore" and the other "aft."

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—

Boys resent being displayed like trophies of a victorious campaign. "Just look," you seem to say, clinging possessively to his arm, "I took him away from the other girls. He's MINE!" What you mean is, he "WAS" yours. Once you started to show him off, he decided to show you UP by dating other girls. It just doesn't pay to broadcast a Beau-by-Beau account of your triumphs. In fact, it costs you dearly in dates and popularity.

Don't Take Your Greatest Asset for Granted

★ Most of us throw every safeguard possible around our property. Homes, automobiles, and valuable personal property are carefully insured against losses by fire, theft, and storm. We insure our lives to protect the economic well-being of our dependents.

Yet health, on which depends our ability to earn these material comforts, is often completely neglected. Good health is too frequently taken for granted until it is lost. It is wise to protect this priceless asset. Include a health examination for every member of the family in your yearly budget. When medicine is prescribed, bring the prescription to us for prompt, economical service.

Gift For Royal Wedding Sent

Towels made in Roxboro, N. C., will be among the wedding gifts which Princess Elizabeth of England will receive when she is married to Lt. Phillip Mountbatten later this month. The towels will be presented by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late President. We are indebted to a former Appomattox resident for this information.

ASK CONTRIBUTIONS FOR NEGRO HEALTH BUILDING

The Health for Victory Club has launched its annual Health Drive for its building fund, according to Mrs. Mozella Price, County Negro School Supervisor. Friends are being asked to help this cause. Contributions may be mailed or left with R. L. Burke or J. C. Davidson at the Bank of Appomattox.

BOOK MARKS DISTRIBUTED

Appomattox County residents who visit public libraries this month will find brightly colored bookmarks inserted in the books they borrow. The bookmarks, supplied by the Appomattox Tuberculosis Committee, serve as reminders of the 1947 Christmas Seal Sale, which opens on November 24, and continues until Christmas, to raise funds to support the committee's work.

HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

The A. H. S.home economics girls offer some hints pertaining to homemaking problems. Today's tip is on the making of an attractive meringue for pie. Meringue is fluffy and white only when made right. Things to remember when fixing meringue: 1. Be sure eggs are at room temperature before beating. 2. Egg whites beat better when they are at least one day old. 3. Egg whites are beaten until they are stiff but not dry. Be ready to spread on pie immediately after this stage has been reached and sugar added and blended. Note: continued beating after sugar has been added will cause the air bubbles to condense and egg whites will no longer be stiff. 4. Most important of all, when striving toward a successful meringue, is the regulation of the oven temperature. All egg mixtures, including meringue, should be cooked at a moderate temperature - 350F. Cooking meringue too fast and at too high a temperature will cause the meringue to fall and become tough and sticky.

High School Chatter

Hello friends! Well, here we are back again with more high school chatter.

The Latin classes had charge of chapel last Wednesday. Members of both the Libertas and Senatorial parties gave speeches, trying to persuade the members to vote for them. It was very interesting in that it gave the students an idea of what a Roman election was like. The following day the Latin classes voted in favor of the Senatorial party.

The Spanish students were guests of Mrs. Frances Cheatham at a dinner party last Wednesday night. We understand they had a lovely dinner and had lots of fun playing Spanish games afterwards. And, confidentially, we hear they are planning some Spanish plays for chapel soon.

Does anyone know what Eulelia was so excited about the other day? Couldn't have been a letter from Sam, could it?

When we came to school last Monday we found a new teacher added to the staff. We are all glad to have Mrs. Nellie Jobe back with us again. And while we are on the subject of new teachers, it seems as if one of the eighth grade classes had a new teacher the other day - someone by the name of William Guill. By the way, Billy, did you ever find out who June Lawson is?

There was a lady from Mary Washington College at school last Thursday. She urged all the senior girls who are planning to go to college to put in their applications early.

Our football team played Charlotte Court House here last Friday. Although we lost, we would like to congratulate our boys for being the first team to score on the Charlotte Court House team. We were glad to see our old friend and coach, Mr. Vincent J. Lusardi, at the game.

We would like to congratulate Evelyn Chernault on winning a trip to Chicago. We hope you have lots of fun, Evelyn.

The candidates for the student council have finally been disclosed. They are, for the first party: president, Billy Guill; vice-president, Beulah White; secretary, Garnet Smith; and reporter, Roger Miller. For the second party: president, Billy Johnston; vice - president, Elaine Bobbitt; secretary, Birdie Harvey; and reporter, Donald Ferguson.

The cheerleaders gave a wonderful canteen party last Friday night. We noticed a few of the girls had flowers, thanks to a florist. Some of our old students were there. And how the girls swooned over the uniforms Sonny Watson and Garland Garrett were wearing. And by the way, could any one tell us what happened to Helen May after the party? Mayble she was studying algebra, how about it, Mr. Dresser? And incidently, Betty Sue isn't the only one who thinks Mr. Fountain is a wonderful dancer.

Has anyone noticed Mrs. Morris' blackboards? Looks as if she discovered some real artists.

Well, so long until next week.

A. H. S. LATIN CLUB

The Civitas Romana, Latin Club of Appomattox High School, held its yearly election of officers on Thursday, November 6. Campaign speeches were given in the old Roman custom, by each of the members of the Libertas and Senatorial parties, as a chapel program on Wednesday. Posters were made by members of the parties and posted around the school. The officers:

The officers of the club are those of the winning party the Senatorial Party

—June Smith, reporter.

EL CLUB ESPANOL

The first business meeting of the Spanish Club was held November 6, 1947, for the purpose of electing officers. The following were elected:

President, Billy Guill
Vice-pres., Patsy Booth
Secretary and reporter, Birdie Harvey.

Motto: Adelante, siempre, adelante; which means, "onward, always onward."

10TH GRADE NEWS

The 10th grade, Appomattox High School, organized at its first class meeting, held last month. Officers elected were:

President, Frank McCann
Vice-pres., Eulelia Robertson
Secretary, Gwendolyn Shuford
Treasurer, Faye Wood
Reporter, Dick Marks

Heavy Punishment For Hunting Out of Season

Sportsman anxious to jump the scheduled opening date for hunting season are warned to wait for the official opening. "Roving wardens" are on patrol in this area on the watch for "trigger-happy nimrods" and are out to catch those hunting out of season.

A defendant was arrested this week for hunting in this county out of season, and was tried and sentenced to 30 days in jail and a fine of $34.25.

Meanwhile a move by land owners to "post" their land against hunting without written permission was under way. With hunting season only a week away, a great number of "posted" signs dotted the rural landscape. And sportsmen are busy soliciting written hunting permission from landowners.

County Record In Purchase Of Savings Bonds

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in Appomattox County for the period of January 1, 1947, through September were $135,689.00.

Sales for the month of October were $15,750.00, making the total for the year, to November 1st, $151,439.

School Problem In Virginia Is Stressed Here

Appomattox High School celebrated American Education Week, on November 11, at 8 P.M, A play, "Beachhead for Freedom," was presented by the Senior Class, under the direction of Miss Harriett Holley and Mrs. W. M. Morris. The play portrayed the American public schools as the new beachhead for freedom, and showed that freedom makes for the recovery of the school.

Principal J. E. Peters gave a short talk on the needs of the school, and he stressed the need for an additional building to house the increasing enrollment of pupils

Supt. J. A. Burke expressed delight at seeing so many present. In his talk he questioned why one nation "has" and another "has not" by illustrating camparing the wealth, resources and education of nations. He closed his remarks by saying that he felt Virginia has a long way to go in education.

Rev. J. M. Walker, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church, was the principal speaker of the evening. He gave a gloomy picture of the teaching profession, by mentioning the facts: first, many pupils are taught by people with sub-standard certificates second, many good teachers are leaving the profession for better paying jobs. He gave several fundemental facts. One startling one was that the United States has all the money to have good schools yet more money is spent on luxuries than an education "Human life," he said, "is the most valuable thing in the world and if a sales tax can provide good schools to take care of our children, well, then let's have the sales tax." He paid high tribute to the teaching profession but felt that education should have the faith and courage to be heard from in current problems.

After the program in the auditorium, the patrons and friends were invited for a half-hour's visit to the high school and grade class rooms.

The activities displayed in the primary department were: childrens' work and Thanksgiving scenes, as well as art work. In the elementary rooms were units on pioneer life, the Plymouth Colony, War Between the States, Science, the Home of the Negro, and Art Displays.

Following the visitation to the rooms, the group gathered in the cafeteria for a social hour.

The cafeteria was decorated with American flags and flowers which had been arranged by the seventh grade. The home economics department served refreshments.

Approximately 300 were present for this program.

Sub-Standard Certificates In School System

The 2,984 substandard teaching licenses, consisting of emergency licenses and local permits, which G. Tyler Miller, State Superintendent of Public Instruction recently reported had been issued or applied for during the current school session, are broken down by cities and counties.

Appomattox County is listed with 22 such licenses or permits.

Other counties listed include, Amherst 20, Buckingham 28, Cumberland 16, Prince Edward 13, Charlotte 13, Campbell 30, Nelson 28.

The City of Richmond had 10, Lynchburg 4, Petersburg 1, Charlottesville 0, Danville 2, Roanoke 0.

These figures indicate that Virginia's school system is greatest in need of teachers at the rural level.

LIONS CLUB TONIGHT

The Appomattox Lions Club will meet tonight at 6:45, at Mann and Smith's.
